

HAMM

A theater piece for Violin and Piano
from Samuel Beckett's "Endgame"

William Osborne

Performance Notes

1. The work should be performed theatrically and from memory.
2. The rhythmically notated text should be accurately followed but with a natural and sometimes quasi-musical quality. Texts enclosed within a box should be spoken freely.
3. Stage directions are always enclosed in parentheses.
4. Every note is preceded by an accidental except for repeated notes and patterns.

(Centre, in an armchair on castors, covered with an old sheet, Hamm.
Motionless, front right, his eyes fixed on Hamm, the pianist. He goes to Hamm removes the sheet covering him, folds it over his arm. In a dressing-gown, a stiff toque on his head, a large blood-stained handkerchief over his face, a whistle hanging from his neck, a rug over his knees, thick socks on his feet, Hamm seems to be asleep. Pianist looks him over. Brief laugh. He goes to piano, plays. Hamm stirs.)
